- Domestic soy oil and palm oil prices futures rose on demand prospects and rise in international benchmark. BMD CPO palm oil futures and CBOT soy oil rose on demand prospects. Crude oil prices were trading higher on Thursday.
- Palm oil- Palm oil prices are supported by expectation of fall in stocks of palm oil in Malaysia, fall in production of palm oil in Malaysia, firm exports of palm oil from Malaysia and firm crude oil prices.
Palm oil end stocks in Malaysia are expected to fall in January in Malaysia due to fall in production and firm exports. Palm oil stocks rose to record in history in December on back of firm production and weak exports. Production is expected to fall on seasonal downtrend of production. Production fell in December indicating that peak production is over and production will fall until Mar-Apr. Exports of palm oil is expected to stay firm in Malaysia in Jan due to firm demand from China and India. China will buy more palm oil to setoff lower production of soy oil in the country due to lower crush on swine flu and lower imports of soybean by China. Chinese New Year is approaching and demand of edible oils will firm paving way for more palm oil due to low supply of soy oil. India is expected to buy more palmolein as Malaysia has been given 5% lower import duty compared to alternate destinations. Further, India is expected to buy more at current pices and port stocks of palmolein are low at Indian ports.
- Soy oil- Soy oil international prices are expected to rise on US-China trade optimism, adverse soybean weather in South America and rise in crude oil prices.
US and China has reached temporary trade settlement due to which China is expected to buy soybean from US to tide over shortage of soybean. Soybean crop condition in Brazil is adverse in South and Central Brazil especially in Parana and Mato Grosso province. This has led to fall in yields and led to lower crop estimates in the country. Various agencies like CONAB, AgRural, Agroconsult etc. USDA is expected to fllow suit whenever it will release Demand and Supply data. Crop cut will be in range of 5-10 MMT. Argentina soybean crop condition has worsened due to heavy rains in soybean growing areas. This will lead to lower yields. His has led to rise in basis over CPOT leading to rise in FOB soy oil prices.
